Description		ACHC offers accreditation programs tailored specifically to the home care and alternate site health care industry. The company's accreditation standards result from ACHC staff and volunteer industry leaders combining their talents and time to develop industry-leading standards and criteria. The company's standards are written for ease of understanding with realistic expectations in daily operations.	The sleep lab accreditation program is designed specifically for facilities that provide sleep diagnostic testing in hospital-based testing facilities, Independent Diagnostic Testing Facilities (IDTFs), or home settings. The program takes a comprehensive approach to sleep-related testing including the clinical aspects of patient care.	The Compliance Team Inc is approved by CMS to accredit all types of DMEPOS providers. The firm also offers a related accreditation program for diagnostic sleep labs.
Benefits		Accreditation is regarded as one of the key benchmarks for measuring the quality of an organization, along with its products and services. Successful accreditation can reap many benefits for your company.	Quality overall patient care, better business plan, improved policies, more effective and efficient operations, stronger risk management strategies, reduction in incidents, enhanced team awareness, credibility with government and third-party payors, marketing edge, greater customer trust, professional self-respect.	Simplified service-specific quality standards coupled with helpful policies and procedures, and expert mentoring, guide diagnostic sleep labs to health care delivery excellence. There is no need to hire a consultant.

Description		The Compliance Team Inc is a nationally recognized accreditation organization that offers a simplified, service-specific, continuously measured and branded Exemplary Provider Accreditation Program for diagnostic sleep labs.	CPAPtalk.com is an online forum where CPAP users can gain knowledge, give advice, and share support. The CPAPwiki contains a wealth of information for new and old users alike.	The Product Challenge is an independent product review resource for the sleep industry. Challenges pit two like sleep therapy products against each other, then select actual users to decide which product they prefer.
Benefits		TCTinc Accreditation Advisors conduct a series of orientation teleconferences and guide diagnostic sleep labs through the implementation of the accreditation process in easily digestible bites.	CPAPtalk.com is always there, accessible 24/7. It also offers CPAP users a peer group that can provide encouragement and advice based on personal experience.	Product Challenge participants highlight superior and problematic product features, helping to set the standard for CPAP equipment. It's an exceptional reference for sleep professionals, patients, and manufacturers.
